

Green County Community Resource Guide

The attached list provides information about community resources in Green County that may be helpful to families who are living with Alzheimer's disease or a related dementia. Due to the changing nature of service agencies, this list may not be comprehensive. Although the Alzheimer's & Dementia Alliance does not endorse or promote one agency over another, we are available to help families identify those services which might best meet the individual's needs and circumstances.

If you have questions or need more information about resources available in our nine county service area, please call our helpline at 1-888-308-6251.

This resource guide will be updated periodically on our website: www.alzwisc.org

Alzheimer's & Dementia Alliance

The Alzheimer's & Dementia Alliance of Wisconsin (ADAW) provides support and education in south central Wisconsin for individuals and families living with dementia as well as for professional service providers. Our organization can be a guide for people affected by Alzheimer's disease and other dementias as well as their families as they learn about the disease, plan for the future, and cope with day-to-day challenges. The ADAW also advocates on the state level about matters that affect dementia-related research and legislation. Our services include:

- Helpline: 608-232-3400 or 888-308-6251
- Family consultations
- Caregiver support groups
- Early-stage support group
- www.alzwisc.org
- Family & professional training workshops
- Quarterly newsletter & email newsletters
- Resource library
- Public policy advocacy
- Provision of information and resources

As an independent, nonprofit organization, 100% of the donations we receive remain in Wisconsin and are tax-deductible.

What is Dementia?

Dementia is a loss of intellectual functions (such as thinking, remembering and reasoning) that is severe enough to interfere with a person's everyday life. Symptoms may include short-term memory loss, inability to think problems through or complete tasks, confusion, difficulty concentrating, and behavior changes.

Some disorders that can cause dementia include:

- Alzheimer's disease
- Vascular disease
- Lewy Body dementia
- Huntington's disease
- Pick's disease
- Creutzfeldt-Jakob disease
- Parkinson's disease

Other conditions that may cause or mimic dementia include depression, brain tumors, nutritional deficiencies, head injuries, hydrocephalus, infections (AIDS, meningitis, syphilis), thyroid problems and drug reactions.

Dementia is not a part of normal aging.

What is Alzheimer's Disease?

Alzheimer's disease is the most common form of dementia, affecting an estimated 5.4 million Americans, including more than 110,000 in Wisconsin. Alzheimer's disease is a progressive, degenerative disease that attacks the brain and results in impaired memory, thinking and behavior. The ten warning signs of Alzheimer's disease are listed below. There are currently three drugs prescribed to treat the symptoms of mild to moderate Alzheimer's disease and one drug to treat later stage Alzheimer's disease. In some people, these medications may improve daily life by enhancing memory and cognitive ability. Early diagnosis is very important to maximize the effect of available treatment.

10 Warning Signs of Alzheimer's Disease

1. Memory Loss: frequently forgetting important dates, events or phone numbers: not remembering them later.
2. Difficulty performing familiar tasks: forgetting ingredients in recipes, change in ability to balance checkbook or pay bills.
3. Problems with language: forgetting simple words or substituting unusual words.
4. Disorientation to time and place: getting lost in familiar places, not knowing where he/she is, not knowing time of day, day of week, month or year.
5. Poor or decreased judgment: dressing inappropriately, unable to set limits on purchases or giving away large amounts of money.
6. Problems with abstract thinking: forgetting how to use numbers, difficulty reading.
7. Misplacing things: putting things in unusual places like firewood in clothes dryer or purse in the freezer.
8. Changes in mood or behavior: rapid mood swings-from calm to tears to anger- for no apparent reason.
9. Changes in personality: doing things that are out of character, confusion, suspicion or fearfulness.
10. Loss of initiative: very passive, sleeping more than usual or withdrawing from usual activities.

If you recognize several of these warning signs in yourself or a loved one, please see your primary doctor. You may also wish to contact a memory diagnostic clinic for a more thorough evaluation. There are also many conditions that can cause dementia-like symptoms that are reversible if a treatable cause is found. Early diagnosis of Alzheimer's disease or other disorders causing dementia is an important step in getting appropriate treatment, care and support services.

MEMORY DIAGNOSTIC CLINICS

Memory diagnostic clinics offer a comprehensive, team approach to assessment, diagnosis and treatment. The staff at the memory diagnostic clinics are trained to identify the reason you or your loved one are experiencing memory loss or confusion. If you have Medicare, 80% of the cost of the evaluation will be reimbursed and most supplemental insurance policies will pay for the additional 20%. The results of the evaluation will be shared with your primary physician for continued follow-up.

SUPPORT GROUPS

At support groups, family caregivers come together to learn new information, share experiences and ideas and support one another. There currently isn't a caregiver support group that meets in Green County. The Alzheimer's Alliance is committed to offering this support opportunity in our communities. If you are interested in participating in a support group, please contact Deanna Truedson at 608-843-3402 or deanna.truedson@alzwisc.org.

LEGAL SERVICES

Legal and financial planning should begin soon after the diagnosis has been made. Planning involves putting together documents that authorize another person to make necessary health care and financial decisions and reviewing your financial resources. If planning is done early, the person with the disease can actively participate in making the necessary arrangements. It is often a good idea to consult with an attorney who specializes in elder law. A benefit specialist can also guide you in this process.

- Guardianship

A guardianship is a special relationship between two people, one of whom, called the guardian, acts on behalf of the ward. This relationship may be ordered by a circuit court when it finds that a person is no longer competent to manage his or her affairs. A relative, public official or any other person may petition the court to have a guardianship established. ## FINANCIAL ASSISTANCE

- Benefit Specialist Program

Elderly Benefit Specialists provide information, assistance and advocacy to residents age 60 and older, and Disability Benefit Specialists provide information, assistance and advocacy to adults with disabilities, ages 18-59. Services range from providing information about eligibility criteria and help in applying for a wide range of benefits, to appealing application denials, terminations or reductions in benefits. Benefit Specialists receive in-depth, ongoing training in areas of benefit and entitlement programs and other issues, including Medicare, Medical Assistance, Social Security, Supplemental Security Income, food stamps, housing, Family Care and more. An attorney provides supervision and support to Benefit Specialists and works closely with them to ensure high-quality advocacy and representation.

- Family Care

Family Care is the name for the redesigned long term care system currently being operated in a limited number of Wisconsin Counties. The system has two major organizational components: 1) Aging & Disability Resource Centers where older people and people with disabilities can get information and advice about the programs and services available in their communities; and 2) Care Management Organizations (CMO's), which manage and deliver the Family Care benefit. In Family Care, each member has support from an interdisciplinary team that consists of, at minimum, a social worker and an R.N. The interdisciplinary team conducts a comprehensive assessment of services and supports designed to achieve desired goals and outcomes; makes arrangements for the member to receive the services; and then monitors the services and supports on an ongoing basis. Applicants for Family Care must meet functional and financial eligibility criteria.

- National Family Caregiver Support Program (NFCSP)
The National Family Caregiver Support Program was developed by the Administration on Aging through the Older Americans Act to respond to the needs of family caregivers. The program offers five basic services including information to caregivers about available services; assistance to caregivers in gaining access to these supportive services; individual counseling, organizing of support programs and training to assist the caregiver; respite care to enable caregivers to get temporary relief from caregiving responsibilities; and limited supplemental services to complement the care provided by caregivers

For more information about this program, contact:

EMERGENCY RESPONSE SERVICES

- MedicAlert® + Alzheimer's Association Safe Return®

MedicAlert® + Alzheimer's Association Safe Return® is a 24-hour nationwide emergency response service for individuals with Alzheimer's disease or a related dementia who are at risk of becoming lost. If someone enrolled in the program is reported missing, essential information is faxed to local law enforcement agencies to initiate a search. If a concerned citizen finds the missing person, the person's ID jewelry (bracelet or necklace) provides a toll-free number to call for help. MedicAlert® + Alzheimer's & Dementia Alliance Safe Return® then notifies the missing person's contacts and makes sure the person is safely returned home. Funds are available if needed to assist with the initial enrollment fee. To obtain more information or an application, call 1-888-308-6251 or 608-232-3400.

TRANSPORTATION

Transportation services differ among communities. Some areas offer bus or van services, have volunteer drivers or use 'shared ride' taxi services to provide transportation to older adults who do not drive.

NUTRITION SITES AND HOME-DELIVERED MEALS

Congregate nutrition sites and home-delivered meals are available in many communities on a donation basis. This is a great way to get help with one of your daily responsibilities and receive a hot, nutritious meal. Questions to ask may include the cost of the meals, how often they are offered, if transportation is available to congregate nutrition sites, and if special diets can be accommodated.

For information on a nutrition site close to you or on home-delivered meals, contact:

HOME CARE SERVICES

Home care agencies provide a variety of services to help people in their homes. Some home care agencies specialize in particular services while others provide a wide range of services. Most agencies charge a fee; volunteer organizations accept donations.

Some county aging units also keep lists of private individuals who provide home-care services in their county. It is up to the family to screen any private individual they hire, and to ensure that state and federal tax law is being adhered to. Note that anyone who hires a private individual as a home care worker on a regular or frequent basis may become an employer under the law and be responsible for paying unemployment insurance and social security/Medicare taxes to the government on the worker's behalf.

Using home care services can help to extend the period of time a loved one can be successfully cared for at home by supplying needed supplemental help and preserving the health and energy of the family caregiver.

Types of Home Care Services

Chore services typically include light housekeeping, laundry, meal preparation and shopping.

Companion care (respite) typically includes oversight/companionship for the person with memory loss so that his or her primary caregivers can take time off from caregiving to keep appointments, attend events, catch up on chores, sleep, or simply enjoy a break. Companion care can be provided in a variety of settings, but is usually provided in the residence of the person receiving care. Companion care can often be combined with chore service and/or personal care assistance. Companions might also take people on outings, enabling them to attend events, volunteer, and visit favorite people and places.

Personal care services typically include assistance with dressing, bathing, grooming, meals and toileting, as needed.

Home health care is provided by nurses, certified nursing assistants or professional therapists and includes medication management, skilled nursing services, bathing, and occupational, physical, and speech therapies. Depending on the situation, the caregiver might be able to take a break from caregiving while home health care is being provided.

A live-in caregiver provides 24 hour/day assistance in the home. Services include personal care, home chores, companionship and oversight of the person in need of care. Some people hire someone they know to live in the home. Others look for live-in caregivers through the local university or by placing an advertisement. Some companion care and home health agencies can provide 24 hour/day shift care.

Hospice care: Hospice services are available to individuals at the end of life. Services usually can be provided in the home or in a facility. Some agencies have free-standing hospice in-patient facilities. Hospice provides nursing care, respite, and grief support for families.

ADULT DAY SERVICES

Adult day programs provide structured support for the older person and are another way for a caregiver to obtain respite from caregiving responsibilities. Some programs are dementia specific. Participants engage in a variety of pastimes, including exercise, music, social activities, and meals. Costs vary. Individuals who meet eligibility requirements may qualify for financial support or sliding fee scales.

FACILITY RESPITE

Respite at residential care facilities may be arranged during the day, for an overnight visit, or multiple day stays. This type of respite is helpful for caregivers who need a longer break to take a vacation or attend to other responsibilities. Please contact individual facilities more details on available respite services at residential facilities.

RESIDENTIAL CARE

There are a variety of facilities including residential care apartment complexes, adult family homes, community based residential facilities and skilled nursing facilities available to meet the different levels of care that may be needed by a person with dementia. When the time comes for a loved one to move to a care facility, it can be very difficult for both the person and the family. In addition, finding the right setting to meet the needs of the person with dementia can be both challenging and time consuming. The Alzheimer's & Dementia Alliance has a booklet available called Residential Care: A Guide For Choosing a New Home that provides several tips and examples of questions to ask as you search for a care facility. Please call 1-888-308-6251 for your free copy.

- Residential Care Apartment Complex (RCAC)

A residential care apartment complex is an apartment that includes a kitchen, living area, bedroom, private bathroom and an array of services including meals, housekeeping, laundry, arranging medical appointments and transportation. RCACs may provide up to 28 hours per week of personal care and/or nursing services. These facilities are most appropriate for a person with dementia who is in the very early stages, who can make their own decisions regarding care options, and who can live independently with minimal assistance, or for the person with dementia and his or her spouse together. These facilities are registered by the Wisconsin Department of Health & Family Services.
